A SMUGGLING BOOM.

Great Increase Between Canada and the United States.

How the Business is Done—Lax Protective System—Enormous Profits of the Trade—How Kerosene is Got Across—Detroit and the Niagara River the Smuggler's Paradise.

BUFFALO, Sept. 3.—The attention of the government has been called to the wonderful increase in smuggling on the Niagara River. The political features of the question have become prominent on both sides of the border. Custom-house officials profess to believe that the offense is not increasing. Well-informed detectives aver that the system of smuggling has become about perfect. It takes on new phases from year to year, but the general aspect is unchanged. Kerosene oil is taken across Niagara River from Buffalo to Canada in enormous quantities every night. Butter, spirituous liquors and silks come just as readily from that side to this market. These are the staples of the smuggling business here. Between Vermont and Canada there is probably more fraud with respect to liquor than any other article. There are fashionable clubs, wealthy citizens and scores of dealers who obtain regular supplies of Montreal brandies, wines and whiskies free of duty by means of the professional smugglers. In return the Canadians are furnished with stylish or "flash" jewelry and many other articles, for the manufacture of which the Yankees have superior facilities. Next to the Niagara comes the Detroit River in affording opportunity for evading the customs regulations. The traffic carried on in the vicinity of Detroit is fully as diversified as in either of the above sections. A trip across Niagara River in a row-boat takes about half an hour. A couple of men familiar with the landing places can make four or five runs between Black Rock and Fort Erie easily in the course of a night. A yawl or clinker will carry five or six hundred pounds of butter, and as there is a duty of four cents a pound on this article, in addition to the entry fee, it is readily seen that high wages may be earned. There is little or no danger of detection, the river being almost entirely unguarded. The few officers employed in this district are chiefly engaged in the daytime on the trains and passenger boats. The proportion of smuggling in these regular channels of trade is very small. It is unquestionable that where one dollar's worth of goods is brought over surreptitiously by train or steamer, a thousand dollars' worth is brought across the river in small boats under cover of darkness.

Not less than fifty night watchmen would be required to repress smuggling along the frontier line from Lewiston or Niagara Falls Southwest to Buffalo, Hamburg and Dunkirk. Residents of Fort Erie allege that a dozen or a score of barrels of kerosene are frequently seen lying in the woods South of the old fort. The popular method of getting this product across the river is to place the barrels in the water and have a batch of them fastened together by means of wires or ropes, when they are taken in tow by a boatman and hauled to the Canadian shore.

The sagacity displayed in this plan commends itself at once. The tow-line may be ten or fifteen rods in length, and should the smuggler be apprehended while en route he has only to let go of it and the proof of his guilt vanishes down stream. Besides, the barrels are self-sustaining in the river, whereas they would prove very cumbersome in the small boats which are required in the smuggling business. The duty on kerosene at Canadian ports is seven and a half cents per gallon, or over $3 per barrel. The man who takes a tow of a dozen barrels across the river has earned in an hour a salary for which many a physician, lawyer or journalist toils a whole week.

A BEAST.

Disgratifying Scandal Among Prominent Village People.

OWESCO, Mich., Sept. 2.—Shiawassee county, this State, is all astir over an alleged criminal assault upon a young lady named Lora Reid, which occurred at Duran village, the facts of which have just been made public. On the afternoon of August 17 John T. McCurdy, a married man, called Miss Reid into his office and made indecent proposals, which were indignantly spurned. The young lady rose from her chair to leave, when he caught her round the waist with one hand and closed her mouth with the other. He then violently thrust the lady into a back room on a bed upon the floor, and there accomplished the deed. McCurdy is powerfully built and is about twenty-five years of age. Miss Reid is seventeen years old, very slight in form and weighs about eighty-five pounds. She is the daughter of Hon. Russell Reid, ex-representative in the State Legislature. The Reid family are highly respectable. The young lady has borne an irreproachable character. The prominence of the parties gives wide-spread interest in the affair. A warrant was issued for McCurdy's arrest on Wednesday. Sheriff Kelso went to his residence in Vernon to take him prisoner, but found McCurdy had disappeared. All efforts yet made for his apprehension have been futile. Mr. Reid is very low with consumption, and this blow falls upon him with terrible effect. Further developments are awaited with anxiety.

A GOOD OUTLOOK.

The Business of the Country Promising Well.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—In their weekly report, R. G. Dun & Co., of the mercantile agency, say that the fact that the business of the country is flowing with a pretty full tide through its accustomed channels is indicated by the steadiness with which the figures showing the bank exchanges at the chief centers are maintained. With depression in several prominent branches of trade, and only a moderate activity in most departments of speculation, it is rather surprising than otherwise that these figures do not show a marked decline. The trade of the week has presented no new features. In dry goods there is a moderate activity, though orders are very low in consequence of overproduction. Grain, provisions, cotton and petroleum have all declined more or less, but the reductions in value on the whole have not been large. The stock market has continued weak and dull, the expected activity after the recent collapse having apparently been postponed, though there is reported to be steady buying for investment of good securities that are now very cheap. Money is still easy, and the banks continue to report a large surplus. In speculative circles activity has been wanting, but so far as legitimate trade is concerned the outlook continues to be encouraging.

WANT DAMAGES.

Vicksburg Citizens Want Money for Injuries.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Sept. 3.—Sundry citizens of Adams and Jefferson counties, being survivors of the disaster which occurred at Mammoth Bayou, on the line of the N. J. & C. Railroad, between Fayette and Natchez, have brought suit against that corporation for damages sustained by them by reason of injury to their persons respectively. The parties suing are: Wm. S. Cannon and wife and their little daughter, Ethel May Cannon; Miss Susan Hall and Miss Virginia Hall, all of Jefferson county; Messrs. Ferdinand D. Monacci and James A. Grillo, both of Natchez. The injuries consist of broken limbs, crushed hand and other various wounds—some of which, it is alleged, have produced permanent injuries. The amounts sued for respectively range from $5,000 to $20,000, aggregating $105,000. It is stated that before suits were brought efforts were made by plaintiffs to obtain an amicable settlement, which was refused by the railroad company, who claim that the injuries were the result of an unavoidable accident. Plaintiffs, however, are certain that the disaster resulted from a defective track and bridge, through which the train fell, and was caused by gross and culpable negligence of the company, its officials, agents and employees.

ST. PAUL'S FESTIVAL.

A Big Celebration in Honor of the Northern Pacific.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Sept. 3.—This is the greatest gala day St. Paul and Minneapolis ever saw, the occasion being the formal celebration of the completion of the Northern Pacific Railway from St. Paul to the Pacific coast. President Villard and his invited guests, number over 400, of notable men of this country and Europe are here. In both cities every public and private business building is decorated, as well as many residences. Fine arches are erected upon the principal streets of St. Paul at various points along the line of march of the procession, which in each city will be several miles long. The St. Paul procession will meet this forenoon and Minneapolis in the afternoon. In St. Paul this evening an elaborate display of fireworks will be made, with music. In the evening the Villard party will be given a banquet at the Hotel Lafayette, Lake Minnetonka, at which nearly 100 plates will be laid, and to which prominent citizens of St. Paul and Minneapolis and the Northwest have been invited.

A Murder Confessed.

BARABOO, Wis., Sept. 3.—Christian Dussel, a brother-in-law of the man found dead near this place, was arrested after the inquest and has confessed the murder. He gives as his reason for the murder that Obrecht threatened his wife's life and also the life of her children, and to prevent him from carrying his threat into execution he murdered him with an ax Sunday morning. He secreted the body in a smoke-house, where it remained until Tuesday, when it was taken out and placed in the road, where it was found. A preliminary trial was held Monday at Loganville, and Dussel and Mrs. Obrecht were bound over to the next term of the Circuit Court. Both are in jail in this city.

A Woman's Silence.

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Sept. 3.—Belle Harris, the polygamous wife who refused to tell the grand jury the name of the father of her two children, has been discharged from custody, the term of court having expired and the grand jury being dismissed. The woman was committed to prison for contempt in refusing to answer as above, three months ago, and having held her tongue all this time comes out a martyr and heroine in the eyes of Mormons. Upon her release she was subpoenaed to appear before the next grand jury in December.

Suicidal.

DECATUR, ILL., Sept. 3.—Coroner Bendure held an inquest on the body of William B. Wilson, aged twenty-two, who committed suicide in Long Creek. The body was not discovered until dark. The inquest brought out the fact that Wilson had been suffering from an abscess in the head, and that he had often threatened to kill himself. The father of the deceased is reported to be worth $75,000. The suicide left a letter for his parents, in which he stated that he had fully considered the matter and that it was best for him to die.

More Trouble With the Dudes.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—A St. Paul special says there is a great deal of indignation among Villard's English guests at the conduct of the Earl of Onslow, who, it is alleged, solicited his invitation, brought three others, insisted upon occupying the entire Pullman car, and capped the climax by sending his servants to sleep in another car with guests, who turned them out. He is now raising a great deal of trouble in the question of precedence in the St. Paul procession.

A MANIAC DEVIL.

Blood-Curdling Deeds of a Religious Lunatic.

Made Having Mad by the Salvation Army—Endeavoring to Crucify His Little Son and to Burn Alive His Daughter—Timely Rescue of the Children and the Capture of the Fiend.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The eastern part of Erie, Pa., is intensely excited over the blood curdling freaks of a man crazed by religion. Sylvester Knott, a well-to-do farmer, living in a comparatively isolated spot on the bank of Lake Erie, is the fanatic whose deeds are the theme of public conversation. Some months ago he attended a meeting of the salvation army, at Franklin, where the first seeds of insanity were sown. Since then his brain has by degrees grown more and more inflamed, and now his frenzy knows no check. For two weeks past he has wandered up and down the lake shore, regardless of sunshine or storm, declaiming on salvation schemes, peering the horrors of judgment day, and calling upon sinners to worship God or be eternally lost. He planted a large cross in the woods upon which to nail his eight year old son, believing the boy would be tormented in hell fire forever unless he died the death of mankind's Redeemer. With strength well nigh superhuman Knott held the lad firmly while driving a large nail through the little fellow's hand, unheeding his piteous pleas for mercy. The dreadful work was interrupted by some wood cutters who chanced to be passing. Leaving his son hanging the maniac fled, first striking down one of the rescuers with a hammer, then leaping into the lake. A search for his hiding place proved fruitless, and it was thought he had been drowned, but such was not the case. Before midnight the crazy fiend returned, smashed the door of the house, and knocked Mrs. Knott insensible at a single blow. Entering a chamber where his only daughter, Minnie, a beautiful girl of seventeen, lay sleeping, he bound her hand and foot and carried her to a lonely place in the forest, where hundreds of cords of wood were piled. An altar was quickly built, and upon it the madman secured his child. "Even as Abraham did with Isaac will I offer you as a burnt offering unto the Lord," chanted the madman, setting the funeral pyre on fire. The climbing flames soon licked the exposed limbs of the girl, whose shrieks of agony and prayers for a more merciful death were music to the madman's ear. He implored the Almighty to accept the sacrifice as an atonement for the sinful deeds committed by him in years long gone, and added fresh fuel to the altar. But help arrived in time to prevent the consummation of the fearful design. Two young men, crossing the woods on their way home from a party, saw a bright light and heard the young lady's screams. One felled the demented sire, while his companion scattered the blazing fagots and lifted the almost nude maiden from her fiery bed, when the cords that fettered her limbs were transferred to those of the unconscious maniac. Miss Knott is painfully burned about the lower extremities, and there are large blisters on her shoulders, arms and sides. So awful was her experience that the doors of an asylum may open to the daughter as well as to the father. She raves night and day, and it is feared that her reason is permanently dethroned.

LARGE FIRE.

The Times-Star once of Cincinnati Burned Out.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 3.—At 2:35 p. m. a fire, suddenly broke out on the first floor of the rag department of Henry Dremar & Co., 232 Walnut street. In an instant the flames were communicated to the rest of the building, and before the department arrived had communicated itself to the fourth story. A moment later the fire caught the press-room of the Times-Star. The pressman used a pony hose, but failed to check the flames. The loss of the Times-Star is perhaps $25,000. That of Dremar's not less than $50,000. It is partially insured.

The flames originated in a heap of rags taking their start as they so often have before, in similar establishments, from spontaneous combustion.

A fireman belonging to Company Number One was thrown from the third story to the pavement by the falling out of the wall, and badly hurt. His escape from death was miraculous, he only saving himself by swinging the ladder on which he was standing to one side as he saw the wall begin to give, thus narrowly escaping being buried under the ruins. He went down with the ladder, of course, and, although painfully, was, it is believed, not fatally hurt.

Several other firemen had narrow escapes, and another fell twenty feet and was badly bruised. Gus Huber, employed on the third floor, was nearly cut off from escape by the flames, and reaching the ground floor he fell unconscious, being badly burned and nearly suffocated by the smoke. He was taken to the hospital and cannot recover.

Deserters Taken to Camp.

GREENVILLE, ILL., Sept. 3.—Quite a stir was created in local military circles by the appearance of two officers in quest of deserting militiamen. Several of the Hilliard Rifles did not see fit to respect the orders to report at Camp Logan, but changed their mind when Sergeant Hibbard, of Company A of Arcola, and Corporal Floyd, of Company F of this city, arrived from Springfield with authority to bring in the delinquents. They were marched to the depot under guard and departed on the 3 o'clock train, having learned more about military rules during the few hours than they ever knew before. The action of the authorities is sustained by public sentiment here.
